THE INTERNATIONAL DAY OF THE GIRL CHILD AT BURUBURU GIRLS SECONDARY SCHOOL NBI.

Cummins C&G, together with Car & General and Lions Club of Nairobi Cargen, in a joint activity with Unilever Kenya, Haco Industries, and Equity Afia, on Saturday October 14th were at Buruburu Girls to commemorate the International Day of the Girl Child (usually marked on 11th October).

The activities of the day included talks on menstrual and general hygiene by Equity Afia, a mentorship session with the Car & General team, and group talks on career guidance, drugs and substance abuse, and relationships. The girls made group presentations on the theme: our time is now - our right - our future, with the activity anchored on using their voices to create positive change for the greater good.

In the steering seat for mentorship was Caroline Momanyi; a youth development practitioner – founder of Enea Kijana Africa (Enea).

HACO's Managing Director, Mary-Ann Musangi explained that "HACO's sustainability agenda continues to drive our business principles and inform valuable partnerships such as the one we have with Car and General to support the girl child. If we all work together, there are many areas where we can achieve real and lasting positive change. After all, when we invest in our girls' education and well-being, we are investing not only in their future but in the future of humanity." Additionally, she noted that "To make the change we need, it is of great significance that we discuss the issues concerning the realization of full and equal rights for girls and continue to raise due awareness to support tomorrow's successful women".
